ADDRESS SYSTEM TO BE INSTALLED FOR USE AT HARBOR FETE SATURDAY

Installation of a public address system at the Parr-Richmond terminal will make all speeches and musical numbers plainly audible to all, it was announced yesterday by Fred D. Parr, who has completed arrangements for the installation.

Parr said that inasmuch as the cargo shed is 400 feet long, and that there will probably be 2,000 persons at the program, it is essential to have a method of amplifying the sound, or many of those attending will be unable to hear.

The installation will consist of the latest and most modern equipment, and specialists will remain on the ground to operate it.

Officials Invited

Mayor A. L. Paulsen will invite delegates to the convention of the League of California Municipalities now in session to attend the Saturday celebration, he announced yesterday. The convention closes Friday, but it was felt that many of the delegates will remain in the bay region over the week end, and that a large number might be induced to visit Richmond and carry the fame of the city back to the many California municipalities which they represent.

All arrangements for the Saturday dedication program are rapidly taking shape. J. P. Strom, general chairman, said the automobile group, of which he is also the chairman, are making special preparations to make the automobile show the biggest event of its kind ever held in Richmond. The decorations will be put in place by a professional decorator, with each booth having its distinctive color play and the same general color

CITY AGENT AT CAPITAL HELD NEED

The proposal that the Richmond chamber of Commerce should employ a special representative in Washington to look after its interests when special needs arise, was made yesterday by T. M. Carlson, city attorney, reporting on his trip to the east from which he has returned.

"This practice is pretty generally followed by American cities," said Carlson, "and it is now in force by cities around San Francisco bay despite the movement to have all communities act as a unit in securing industries and legislation. It is my opinion that this city should do likewise."

Carlson said he believed a representative could be secured in Washington at nominal cost to be on call at all times when special

Y Campaign Nears Goal

The finance committee of the Richmond Y. M. C. A. has collected $5,807 in its drive to raise a budget of $8,500 for 1928-29, according to Reynold Carlson, secretary of the local organization.

Though officially ended, the campaign is still progressing in an effort to bring the sum up to the required amount. The returns are coming in steadily, and the sum collected is expected to rise much higher than it is at present.

Mrs. Davis Named Secretary Of Jury

MARTINEZ, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Roy R. Davis, former president of the Contra Costa Federated Women's club and wife of the former manager of the Antioch branch of the Bank of America, was named secretary of the new county grand jury empaneled by Judge H. V. Alvarado.

Scout Band To Hold Rehearsal

The second rehearsal of the Richmond Boy Scout band will be held tonight at the Boy Scout hall at seven o'clock, according to E. L. Orr, who is bandmaster.

All Boy Scouts interested have been urged by Orr to be in attendance.

FLIERS PLAN LONG FLIGHT

SANTA MARIA, Oct. 9.—UP—Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, who piloted the Southern Cross on its flight from California to Australia, is planning a flight from Europe to Santa Maria in the same plane, he announced here today.

Capt. Kingsford-Smith conferred here with Capt. G. Allan Hancock, wealthy backer of the hop to Australia. The flier said that as soon as backing is secured for the trans-Atlantic and transcontinental flight, the Southern Cross would be brought here. The plane is in Amsterdam, Holland.

Capt. C. P. Ulm, who was with Kingsford-Smith on the Australian hop and on an Australia to England flight, will be one of four fliers to make the trip. The others will be J. W. Liefield and John MacWilliams, who also made the Australia-England hop.

Chronic Auto Thief Sentenced

OAKLAND, Oct. 9 (UP)—Said to have averaged one automobile theft every three days in 1928, Francis E. Lee, war veteran, was sentenced to ten years in San Quentin at superior court here today. Lee pleaded insanity.

Kidnaped Girl Taken From Bus

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9 (UP)—Saying that she was persuaded to leave her home in Los Angeles by a man, 14-year old Dona Boyd was taken from a Portland-bound stage here today and held for her parents by police.

MACDONALD ENDS PEACE MISSION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—UP—The historic peace mission of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald came to a climax tonight when he and President Hoover issued a joint statement declaring the possibility of war between the United States and Great Britain has been banished and that competition in naval building is ended.

For five days the spokesmen of the two great naval powers have been talking frankly, calling hard raw facts by their honest names. They parted tonight declaring jointly that a new atmosphere banishes mistrust and suspicion, and makes war between the two powers unthinkable.

The prime minister and his daughter, Miss Isabel, called at the White House at 6:30 tonight and took formal leave of the President and Mrs. Hoover in the famous Blue room where they met last Friday. Tonight President Hoover departed from White House etiquette, which virtually makes the president a "social prisoner," and drove out to Woodley, the home of Secretary of State Stimson to attend a stag dinner in MacDonaldis honor. It was a gesture of personal regard for MacDonaldis, typical of the simplicity which has surrounded these momentous conversations at the White House and at the president's mountain camp, where they sat on a log and discussed the destiny of the powers.

The final leave-taking tonight was simple. MacDonaldis, and Miss Isabel, accompanied by the British ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard and several of their staff, were escorted into the Blue room of the White House, where President and Mrs. Hoover, flanked by military and naval aides, were waiting. Farewells lasted 25 minutes. As MacDonaldis turned to go, President Hoover took him by the arm and walked out into the reception hall of the White House, adding a friendly human touch to the event. They were smiling as they parted.

Walking out on the White House portico, the British prime minister lifted his hat, turned for one last backward glance, stepped into his car and his great adventure into unexplored fields was officially over.

Only half a dozen persons witnessed the departure.

First Honor Court For El Cerrito Scouts Tomorrow

The first court of honor for the El Cerrito Boy Scouts will be held tomorrow night at the Fairmont school, according to an announcement made yesterday.

More than a score of El Cerrito Boy Scouts who have passed their merit badge and class tests will be awarded badges.

Scout Executive Robert F. Cox of Richmond will attend the court.

CARQUEZ VISITORS

Visitors at the Carquinez hotel yesterday include: J. G. Schuman and wife, Oakland; Dan Kelly, of Richmond; Fred Diari, San Francisco; and Don Harris, Alhambra.

CHARTER LEAGUE MEMBERS INCREASE LEADER ASSERTS

The Charter League has grown from 50 registered members a few weeks ago to 250, now signed, it was announced at the league meeting in Memorial hall last night by E. B. Lowery, president of the organization.

The Parr-Richmond Terminal corporation and the Richmond city council were scored by Lowery and Lee D. Windrem, former attorney, who pointed out that in the past five years, Richmond has gained little or nothing in new industries.

Windrem delivered the principal address of the evening, citing cases of other cities getting new incorporations and industries, while Richmond stood still.

As a closing address, Lowery asked the members to obtain new members to attend the meetings or to talk to friends on the street, impressing them with the need for a change in Richmond's policies. Lowery also stated that the league was directly responsible for the slight cut in taxes which was made this year.

Heart Taken Out Of Body Of Slain Man

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 9.—UP—The body of an unidentified man, mangled by dynamite, which apparently had been exploded inside or underneath it and with the heart missing, was in the morgue here tonight while officers continued their hunt for clues to the mystery.

The shattered remains of the man were found by two hunters behind a tree in a deserted coral near here. An autopsy performed by Dr. A. B. Tock, woman physician, today disclosed the fact that the heart had been removed before the dynamite was exploded, and that the man's throat had been cut.

LINDY FINDS 4TH ANCIENT MAYA CITY

MIAMI, FLA., Oct. 9 (UP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today discovered the fourth ruins of an ancient Maya city to be credited to him during the last three days of his aerial survey of Central American jungle lands.

Radio messages direct from Col. Lindbergh's plane to the Pan-American Airways here said that the third Maya ruins were sighted on a sloping hill. The masonry appeared above the thick trees and undergrowth, forming an almost perfect square in the desolate region where few if any white men have ever been.

Horner Honored By Shrine Club

Clare D. Horner, of Richmond, illustrious potentate of Aahmes temple of Shriners, was honored last night at a dinner held in the Congregational church at Pittsburg by the Contra Costa Shrine club.

Dinner was served by the women of the church to the 200 members present. Following the dinner, the men made a tour of the Columbia Steel mills under the direction of the officials of the plant.

Scout Troop No. 3 Plans Anniversary

The seventh anniversary of the Rotary Boy Scout Troop No. 3 will be celebrated Tuesday night at the Peres school, according to plans made yesterday.

Members, their families and friends of the troop will gather at the celebration, which will be marked by the presentation of charter memberships.

Louis Rasmussen is Scoutmaster and J. B. Corrie is chairman of the Rotary club troop committee.

PROPOSED CUT IN GAS RATES HIT AS INCREASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—UP—Disapproval of the plans for C. C. Brown, state gas expert for a reduction in gas rates was expressed here today at the hearing before the State Railroad commission.

White Brown contended that under his rate plan consumers in the bay region would save about 65 cents per month on gas bills, opponents of the plan declared that the small consumer would be hit by the plan.

Brown declared that his plan would save the "average" consumer about 18 percent per month by using the new mixed natural and artificial gas at his rates.

Under his schedule consumers using less than 700 cubic feet of gas per month would pay about the same as they are now. The consumers using between 700 and 1500 cubic feet per month would pay slightly more, not exceeding 15 cents a month.

The "average" consumer Brown says, used about 3880 cubic feet per month in 1928 but that by using the new mixed gas the average consumer gets more heat and uses only 3049 cubic feet. His monthly bill was $3.49 in 1928 and under Brown's plan it would be $2.84.

Members of the State Railroad commission and others have objected to this plan on the grounds that although the "average" consumer would benefit slightly, the small user would bear the burdens of higher gas rates.

No definite decision was reached yesterday. Another hearing is scheduled for Oct. 23.

Four Building Permits Issued

Four building permits were issued yesterday in the office of A. J. Hurley, city building inspector.

C. A. Davis will remodel the front and rear porches of a house on Third-second street between Roosevelt and Clinton avenues. N. E. Anderson will do the work to cost $150.

William E. McMaisters will build a one car garage on South Sixteenth street between Cutting and Virginia. The cost will be $100.

William Pappas will alter the interior of the Richmond theater Fifth street and Macdonald avenue at a cost of $300. D. A. Dodge is to be the contractor.

John Zimmerman will build an all metal and steel garage on Macdonald avenue between Second and Third streets. The structure is to cost $100.

Rev. Forman To Leave For New Post In South

Rev. and Mrs. George W. Forman will leave Richmond today for Alhambra where Rev. Forman will assume his post as pastor of the Alhambra Methodist church.

Rev. Forman has been pastor of the Community Methodist church here for two years. His son Maurice will remain in Richmond as he is a member of the Longfellow Junior high school faculty.

Sheriff To Buy New Army Rifles

MARTINEZ, Oct. 9.—Sheriff R. R. Veale stated today that he is making arrangements for the purchase of several Springfield rifles to add to his arsenal of rifles, revolvers, automatic shotguns, sawed off riot guns, a sub-machine gun and tear bombs.

Canadian Girl Faces Deportation

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9 (UP)—Charged with being "indiscreet" by her brother-in-law, Miss Irene Sullivan, 20, will face deportation to Canada if convicted at her hearing within the next few days by Federal immigration authorities.

PROMISED TO 'BE TAKEN CARE OF'

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.—UP—A veteran stage actor went to the stand by surprise today in Alexander Pantages' trial on charges of attacking Eunice Pringle and accused the millionaire theater man of asking him to give "manufactured" testimony.

John Sheridan, called by the state without warning, said that Pantages had asked him to testify that he was in the secluded consultation room scene of the alleged attack, on the disputed day.

"Then he told me a story or incidents that occurred and we discussed the story I was to tell," Sheridan declared. "I was to say that I was in the room when the girl entered and that I saw her in the doorway with one arm and one leg in the room."

Story Held False

"I was to say that I left the room for a few minutes and that when I returned she was in the same position."

In response to a question by District Attorney Bureau Fitts, Sheridan said the story was "false," but the answer was stricken out. However, a similar response was elicited by another method a few minutes later.

"Were you in that room on the day of the alleged attack?" Fitts asked.

"I was not; I was in San Diego," Sheridan said emphatically.

Known 15 Years

Sheridan, who has "known" Pantages for 15 years in the profession, told how he came in. (Continued on Page 3)

GRASS VICTIM RITES FRIDAY

Funeral services will be conducted from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock for Marlene Hartwig, 7, daughter of Mrs. Euan Jarmann, 562 McLaughlin avenue, who was killed in an automobile collision Tuesday.

School mates of the little girl will serve as pall bearers. Rev. A. A. Pratt will officiate at the services and burial will be in Sunset View cemetery.

An inquest into the death will be conducted by Coroner Ambrey Wilson in the next few days.

The little girl was almost instantly killed when she was struck by a machine driven by Frank Cushing, 1609 Bissell avenue. Cushing told police that he did not see the girl until it was too late to stop his car.

Racing Autoist Kills Worker

SAN JUAN, Oct. 9 (UP)—While racing in an automobile with her husband flying above her in an airplane, Mrs. E. Walton Hodges, Jr., San Francisco society woman, struck and killed Samuel A. Jones, 55, road foreman.

Mrs. Hodges declared that she was so intent on the race that she did not see Jones. Jones is survived by his widow and five children.

Grand Jury Asks Arrest Of Slayer

MARTINEZ, Oct. 9.—The newly empaneled grand jury yesterday issued a bench warrant, formally charging Delaine Delahousaye, colored, with the murder of Horace Smith also colored.

Delahousaye, alleged to have shot Smith in an argument over a card game in Pittsburg Sunday morning, disappeared after the shooting and despite a state wide search has not as yet been found. The bench warrant is now in the hands of Sheriff R. R. Veale.

THE WOMAN OF IT

MARGUERITE MOORE MARSHALL

Why a Woman Loves New York

THAT young women (and young men) from West and North and South are seeking New York as the "last frontier" for intellectual adventures, for in this city they find interesting work, intelligent companionship, generous assistance from those who have arrived; that here—above all—they are allowed to cultivate individuality and to enjoy personal freedom with the minimum of "neighboring curiosity and social pressure"—these are the reasons, says Lillian Symes in the current Harper's, why she and we and innumerable other adopted New Yorkers come and never go back.

"The country's problem at the present moment," she writes with truth, "may well be—How are you going to keep them from staying away after they've seen Manhattan?"

Mrs. Symes went from California to New York to seek her fortune; we took the boat from Boston. East is East and West is West, yet the two of us meet intellectually in the main essentials of our appreciation of our city-by-choice—of what it means to us and what it has done for us. Everything which Mrs. Symes says we have found true—and more.

NEW YORK—this was why we began to love it—captured our imagination when we got up early, the morning we arrived, and went out on deck to watch for the skyscraper spires against the sky. Really, our feeling for New York was a case of love at first sight, as, in the old Harvard, we sailed under the bridges and around the Battery. Nothing ever gave us a more authentic thrill than that skyline!

In the days that followed, while we hunted a newspaper job, the rushing, restless, enormously active and variegated life of New York fascinated us, and we had an almost continuous sense of excitement in the contact with unlimited power. Heaven knows, the contact was nebulous enough—we were about the most unimportant item that ever lived in a hall bedroom and walked from East Eleventh Street to Park Row to save a cab fare—but it existed in our mind if nowhere else.

We thought, exultantly, "I am a part of this place—I belong here—I'll do what I want—THIS IS ADVENTURE, and I'll never go back." Plunging into New York gave us the same stinging mental exhilaration which we get physically from plunging into a wave that curves over our head. And we could no more be afraid of New York than of the wave.

We did freelance writing, then were bidden to report at a desk, landed finally on the staff of this paper to do the work we like best, as we have told the story to ambitious young women who were asking how we got the job. (It boils down to this: keep evaluating after it, and do all the writing you can as you go along.) While we were settling down into our economic niche we began to savor another reason for loving New York—its magnificent policy of mind-your-own-business.

PLEASE don't misunderstand—we didn't want to lead a wild and reckless life. But we wanted to do as we chose in simple things—eat a midnight dinner after a late assignment, go anywhere we had business at any hour of the day or night, make our own friends with the aliveness and sparseness fancied by the woman who likes books better than many people. New York let us go our own gait. No sympathetic women or organizations tried to give advice, "for her own good," to a girl always going to work in a strange city, we lived as we chose provided we paid our bills, did our job as it should be done and kept the peace. In how many communities except tolerant and sophisticated New York could an ardent individualist of a girl have found that general attitude twenty years ago?

The longer we lived in New York the more we loved it for its beauty. Besides the skyline from the harbor we discovered so many other glories—Lower Broadway on a misty morning with the towers going into and out of the fog; that view of Brooklyn Bridge from the back of City Hall, where the bridge arches look like a pair of Florentine windows; the middle city at night from twenty stories up, with a pattern of lights like a giant's fairyland; Fifth Avenue at three in the morning, when we walked down it all alone, except for a policeman on the other side of the street, and felt as if we owned the place.

Nearly always mingled with the impression of beauty was that other impression of superb power and of being a part of it—all of which I saw and part of which I was.

Considering all the young women who have cherished a hopeless passion for the Prince of Wales, he displayed something less than royal tact in allowing his latest biographers to declare uncompromisingly that he has never been in love.

Two contrasting qualities, simplicity and richness, characterize the true rice pudding. Children and adults respond to this dessert with an equal degree of enthusiasm.

Chuckful of raisins, islands, or flecked with shreds of dates or figs, rice pudding baked to creaminess, cleanses the simple autumn luncheon or the evening meal most pleasantly.

The experienced housewife has her own recipe for this old-time pudding, the bride experimenting with recipes given her with a first-hand favorite before the year is out.

To facilitate her search this very good and easily made sweet, to be eaten hot or cold and with or without cream, is given:

REAL RICE PUDDING
One-half cup whole rice
Four cups rich milk
Two-thirds cup sugar
One-half teaspoon salt
One-half to one cup raisins

Baking time: two to three hours in slow oven—300 degrees F.

The rice is baked with the milk until the grains are soft. A creamy liquid is the only test of the milk left after two or more hours in the slow oven. The quantity may seem over large for two and yet the kopping quality is such that the pudding is even richer reheated the third day than it is when just baked. A good refrigerator is an asset to the scheme, however.

On a stay-at-home morning this dessert may be attempted with advantage for the pudding must be stirred every quarter of an hour during the first sixty minutes of baking to prevent a crust from forming.

Tools and utensils required for the pudding preliminaries include: a measuring cup, large pan, strainer, buttered baking dish or pan and cover, teaspoon, knife, large spoon, thermometer, clock.

Heat the oven. Measure and wash the rice through several waters and place in the baking dish. Mix the milk with the sugar; brown is extra nice—and salt; stir until the sugar is dissolved in the milk. Pour over the rice and set the covered dish in the slow oven.

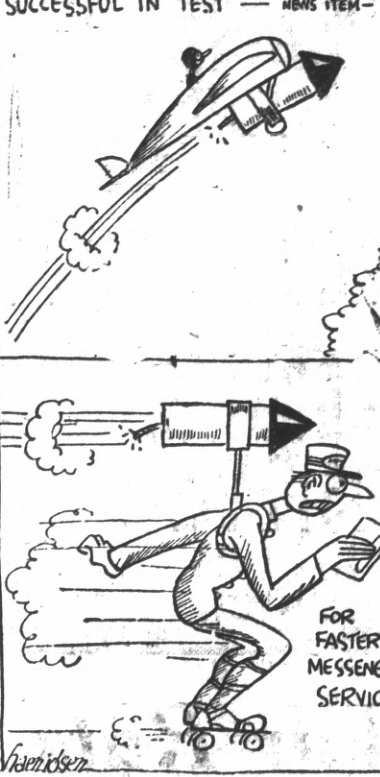

Stir every fifteen minutes during the first hour. At the end of the hour add the seedless or seeded raisins, or dates or figs. Cover the dish and return to the oven. Let bake another hour or longer.

The pudding is done when the contents of the dish are soft and creamy, and most deliciously fragrant. Serve hot or cold. A cup of whipped cream folded into the pudding adds richness at a meal low in nourishment.

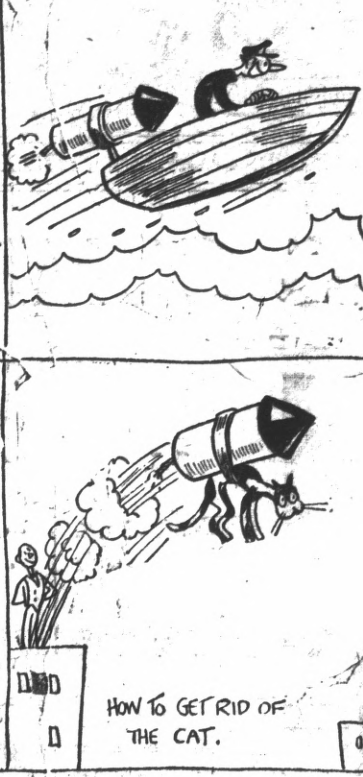

In baking the pudding, the milk should under no conditions be allowed to boil. A slow oven is imperative to rice pudding perfection.

PARIS, October, Trotsky in New York

Writing in the Sunday Times of London, Leon Trotsky tells something of his experiences during his short sojourn in New York in 1917. And reports came through of the Kerenky revolution, Trotsky says: "When I telephoned my wife from the newspaper office that there was a revolution in Petrograd the younger boy was in bed with diphtheria. He was nine years old, but had known for a long time that the revolution meant amnesty, return to Russia and a thousand other good things. He jumped up and started dancing in his bed to celebrate the revolution. His convalescence began from that moment. We were anxious to leave by the first possible steamer. I ran about to the Consulates for papers and visas. It would be a gross exaggeration to say that I had grown to know New York. I had become too quickly engrossed in the affairs of American Socialism for that. The Russian revolution came too soon. All I had time to catch was perhaps something of the rhythm of the monster called New York. I departed for Europe with the feelings of a man who had caught just one glimpse of the interior of the workshop where the future fate of mankind will be hammered out. I consoled myself with the thought that some day I should return. Even to-day I have not abandoned that hope."

A Parisian Type

The "gerant" or head waiter in the busy Paris restaurant carries a napkin (serviette). Without it he could not be a gerant. He carries it folded thin and stiff, and he tucks it under his arm as though it were a pick. It is a wand of office, a symbol of his calling and authority. At times of stress he will wave it like a flag or urgent signal of direction to a waiter tardy in his ministrations. Occasionally, too, he will whisk it over a table-top in order to remove a single crumb, or with it he will improve the polish of a plate. Chiefly, however, the serviette serves the gerant as a stay and comfort. For often you may observe him a little self-conscious as he stands with nothing in particular to do before the concentrated gaze of a table full of people. Then will you see his hands fly for refuge to his serviette, and he will cleave unto it as to salvation. Life without a serviette to the gerant would indeed be unthinkable. It is the centre of his scheme of things. About it all other things revolve. Wrest it from his grasp and he would be a poor atom drifting in the limbo of his disintegrating universe.

Wants Needle Back

"Egypt! Righteousness exists! Notice: This monument came from Egypt and was brought here some years back. It is the property of the Egyptians. Long live the nation!" This was the inscription that Londoners found attached to Cleopatra's Needle one morning recently. The ironic point is that the Egyptian Nationalist who wrote those lines apparently doesn't know his own country's history. The English didn't want the Needle. And moreover, it's a miracle it ever got to London. Mohammed Ali very kindly offered it to both George IV. and William IV. and both said, "No, thank you." The thought of bringing from Egypt a monument of carved granite weighing 140 tons was, in those days more than a joke. About 1801 Sir Ralph Abercromby took a fancy to it, and suggested that it should be conveyed to England in commemoration of his victory near Alexandria, where it had stood for a couple of thousand years. He and his friends subscribed some thousands of pounds toward the job, but it was not until 1877 that its transport was begun. Before it was launched it crashed into a tomb. Tugs took it to sea and it struck a rock and sank. It was raised and repaired and towed away again, but was cut adrift in a storm in the Bay of Biscay. For two months it tossed about the ocean until it was discovered by a British ship and taken to Spain. It arrived in England in September, 1878.

Poor Relations

It may well seem to the unfortunate ex-Kaiser Wilhelm almost blasphemous for any mere man, and a waiter at that, to call himself the brother-in-law of the late Kaiser. Yet so it is. A certain M. Zukkoff, employed in a humble capacity in a Luxembourg restaurant, not only claims this proud distinction, but actually attempts to inflict his company on his august relative at Doorn. Like other poor relations in less exalted circles, he has been rebuffed. In fact he has been removed by the police. So now he contents himself with sending picture postcards to Wilhelm, signed: "Your affectionate brother-in-law." Alas! poor Wilhelm. The trouble is that the presumptuous fellow really is his brother-in-law.

The Farmer's Advice

By Alfa-fa Smith

NO WONDER you are in a rut! You are the same things day after day—you wear the same clothes—the same old hat and the same old necktie day in and day out, and you never seem to advance.

You get the same salary every week and you will keep on getting it unless you wake up—sit up and go forward!

You do not think very much of yourself—why should others think anything of you?

SHAKE YOURSELF AND GO FORWARD.

A Novel Refrigerator

ONE young woman has a novel way of keeping butter from becoming soft. She uses a large slip flower pot—the ordinary red clay variety. Before she used it at all she soaked it in cold water one hour. Each day she soaks it in cold water for five or ten minutes and keeps it in the coolest spot in her room.

She keeps the butter in this and covers it with the clay saucer that came with the pot. She says it is a splendid refrigerator but must be kept moist to give satisfactory service.

A Handy Toy

ONE of those toy rakes is a useful kitchen utensil. Keep it hanging where it is handy and when you wish to draw a hot dish from the oven use the rake. It is so much easier to rake out the hot baked potatoes into a dish than pick each one out by hand.

When the kiddie's ball rolls under the touch the rake will get it out in a jiffy. Often an article is so far back on an upper shelf that you cannot reach it. It is less dangerous to use the rake than risk standing on a chair. With the rake you can bring it to the edge where you can easily get it.

In short, you will find many uses for the little toy rake.

The Beauty Shop

By Frances Olivier

Beauty Culture in the Cradle

AMONG the numerous unrecorded wonders of the world, there lives a pair of bulbous-nosed parents whose two children have noses almost classic in their perfection. These same two parents have almost no eyes to speak of, their orbs being shapeless and ill defined by sparse, pale eyebrows. Yet the eyes of their children are a glory to behold.

Further, the children have grace and beauty of form which makes them seem totally unrelated to their ungainly father and mother. Indeed, so marked is the contrast between these offspring and the two who begot them that more than one observer has looked upon them as unexplainable accidents of nature. We, ourselves, could never quite account for the attitude of that mother toward her two children. She would look upon them with the conscious satisfaction and joy of a creator, much as to say, "There's a fine job." And then one day the "mystery" was made clear to us.

"One day, when my daughter had just turned three months, confided this mother to us. 'The realization came to me that she looked like any other child of the same age. Her nose was a tiny lump of putty, her eyes just another pair of human eyes and her hair, little more than a promise. The thought came that I could mold her into something resembling a beauty. And this is how I went about it.'"

"I began with her nose, least nature should give her a copy of her father's or her mother's. Two minutes every day I gave that little nose a gentle massage using my thumb and forefinger, and beginning at the bridge and working down to the tip. What in the mood, I tapered her fingertips, too. Also I massaged and molded what she had in the way of eyebrows, and ever so gently rubbed the edges of her eyelids so that she might have a proper frame for her eyes."

"Later on, I barely moistened my little finger tip with vaseline when I massaged her eyelids. And when the first fragile blonde lashes appeared, I smoothed them upwards, several times each day."

"Whenever I brushed or combed her hair I rubbed always to train it down and round so that it would be curly. As for her skin, it is nothing more or less than the result of right eating and a judicious amount of daily exercise."

"I was severely criticised for it by less progressive friends, but at the Academy of three each of my children joined a class in rhythmic dancing. In summer the classes were held outdoors."

"It took courage for me to do these things, living as I did in a community of reactionaries, but when I compare the walk and the posture of my two jewels with the way their friends carry themselves, I thank heaven for my courage and my 'strange notions.'"

More power to mothers like you, Mrs. M., you are quite the creative artist.

Winter Nightwear

Suggested for warmth as well as chic, are broadcloth pajamas with long sleeves and rather long jacket. They are designed on Russian lines, but the collar, while high is not tight. The jacket is double breasted all the way to the collar where it fastens at one shoulder.

A sash may or may not be worn.

Daytime Naps for Children

A MOTHER asks whether it makes any difference when a three-year-old child sleeps, as long as he gets in the required twelve hours a day.

Children should be trained to go to bed early at night. If a child spends more than one and a half hours in daytime sleep this will interfere with good sleeping habits at night.

Of course, this rule does not apply to infants, as they sleep from sixteen to twenty hours up to two years, and a good share of this is done in the daytime.

After two years there should be an early afternoon nap from one hour to one hour and a half and the regular bedtime hour should be not later than 6 P. M.

When the daytime nap is too long the child is deprived of the play and the fresh air so essential to his proper development and this fact should be seriously considered.

NEW YORK'S MURDER MYSTERY CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK is selecting a new Mayor this fall and the campaign speeches read like the six best sellers. Practically every anti-Tammany candidate promises, if elected, to discover who killed Arnold Rothstein within two weeks.

Jimmy Walker has promised them bigger park systems, higher high schools and more subways. But the voters are more interested in who pulled the trigger in Room 349. It would really be a pipe for S. S. Van Dine to come out for Mayor and be swept into office.

Here in a resume of the New York campaign so far.

The Confusionist candidate: "Where does Tammany stand on the Rothstein murder? Mayor Walker is hiding behind his spine in this matter. Ten seconds after I am elected, I will have the murderer in Sing Sing. I could name the culprit now, but the electric chair is sold out up to the firm of the year and I would have to patronize the ticket scalpers to get an immediate reservation for it. But give me your votes and I will solve the mystery my first day in office. I will also expose how Houdini used to escape from the cabinet and give you the complete answers to the eleventh crossword puzzle book."

The Hokumist candidate: "The Tammany police force is in need of a shakeup. Where were the cops the night Alexander Hamilton shot John Burr at Weehawken? They were looking for the killer at the Staten Island ferry slip. If I am elected, I will put Grover Whalen in overalls and rubber boots. I also promise, as Mayor of this great city, to solve the murder in Rue Morgue to find out who killed Cock Robin and give the low-down on the death of Lord Kitchener."

The Squid Head candidate: "The record of the Police Department under Mayor Walker is a disgrace. Everyone knows the guilty parties in the Greene, Bishop and Canary murder cases, yet not a single culprit has been brought to the bar. If the citizens elect me to a four-year term in City Hall, I will forewarn malacca walking sticks and grease in my hair and I will reduce Grover Whalen to a beat in Flatbush."

"If the New York police had been on the job they would have discovered Charley Ross and Dorothy Arnold among the concealed assets of the defunct City Trust Company. I could give the inside of many other police mysteries too. Where were the cops when Waggoner got $500,000 right from under their noses? I tell you, voters, the New York Police Department is laying down on the job. The trial of Mary Dugan ran in New York for thirteen months without the District Attorney getting a single conviction. They finally had to send out road companies to Chicago and Philadelphia to get any justice. There is something rotten somewhere and I don't mean Copenhagen."

The Tammany candidate: "Let's make believe Rothstein died a natural death and have a more dignified campaign. If re-elected for another four years I will give the citizens wider street car tracks, bigger sewers and louder blarney."

"Under my administration more streets have been dug up and laid down again than under any other Mayor. If the voters really want a change give me another term and I promise to spend half of it in Hollywood, New Orleans and Palm Beach. I don't like to indulge in personalities, but before the thoughtful voter casts his ballot, let him think how La Guardia, Wright or Norman Thomas would look in dress clothes."

Elegance in New Metal Cloths

QUITE sumptuous evening ensembles created by Patou and now enlivening the displays in city shops prove the splendor possible in sheer metal fabrics and supple metal brocades.

A resplendent version attracting some attention is the gown of sheer metal shown on the figure at the left, completed by a short coat of the same, cut very plain and almost tailored, its lines relieved however by a banding of fine cable.

Belong is another couturier with a penchant for metals in expressing excessive elegance. Blue metallic fabric fashions the model at the right, true to type in its simple bodice, slightly bloused above the belted waistline, taut hips and voluminous long trailing skirt.

It is no news that metals are exceedingly fashionable in completing the afternoon ensemble. But an impetus is given this medium as autumn gets under way.

Economizing on The Rug

PERHAPS the rug will do for another season if the worn places are reinforced. Fringe, sewed on the end will cover the frayed edges.

Even the holes can be mended. First darn in the linen, cotton or jute braid, then fill in the pile on the right side by making loops of colored worsted yarn and fastening each securely to the backing.

Of course the colors used should match the old ones as nearly as possible. If not obtainable yarn can be dyed to match or some neutral shade corresponding in tone might be used.

The design and colors must be followed as closely as possible and the pile stitch must be adapted to the kind of rug it may be. If the rug is a Brussels the loops are left uncut, but in rugs with a velvet surface the loops must be clipped.

Have You Ever Thought—

When sending delicacies to a sick friend it is considerate to use paper plates and waxed paper, which need not be returned?

To keep rubber rings in a box and covered with flour?

A sash may or may not be worn.

CLUB WOMEN HOLD SHOWER FOR CAMP

Linens amounting to fifty dollars were the gift of Richmond Club at the linen shower given yesterday for Sunshine Camp at the monthly session of Contra Costa Federation of Women's Clubs. Richmond Club, which is the largest club of the county participated with the 12 other clubs, including also Club Mendocino, of which Mrs. C. O. Bryant is president, Junior Club Mendocino of which Miss Grace Lowell is president and the South Richmond Improvement Club of which Mrs. D. Howden is president. 44 sheets, 58 pillow slips, 174 towels and 22 wash cloths, all of the best heavy materials and the required measurements were the total to go to Sunshine Camp. Forty dollars in cash was also on hand to make purchases, filling in the most needed articles. Richmond club acknowledges the aid given in its individual purchase of linens by the Local Union, No. 362, I. B. W. the Cosmopolitan club and the Admiral Dewey Camp, Spanish War Veterans as well as Albert's Department store for the assistance given.

Mrs. S. K. Ripley, of Richmond and Alameda district president, attended the county meeting yesterday and addressed the members briefly on responsibility. She said "it is a wonderful privilege to be a woman today and to be an American woman. But with privileges come responsibilities." She urged the clubwomen to have opinions on city, state national and international affairs, to be tolerant and willing to change that opinion if later data warrants. She concluded "let us make our opinions felt and let us be sure our opinions are enlightened."

Salt water barrier was the topic of Carl R. Scheller, president of the Industrial Water User Associations for Contra Costa and Solano counties.

The sale of Christmas seals as financial aid to Sunshine Camp was presented, as 75 percent of the proceeds go toward the upkeep of the Contra Costa camp.

The planting of live Christmas trees was urged and the object of good out-of-door manners stressed.

With Mrs. Ripley, Mrs. James A. McVittie, county second vice president, Mrs. Clara D. Korner, Mrs. C. O. Bryant, Mrs. J. W. Brown, Mrs. Bernice McCormack and Mrs. Francis Kent attended from Richmond.

Prior to the meeting a luncheon was served for a large attendance. All members of the Circle united in making the event a success.

What Society Is Wearing

MRS. EDWIN MAIN POST WORE FUR COAT AND HAT.

Often two and, sometimes three types of fur appear on a costume, as evidenced by the ensemble worn by Mrs. Edwin Main Post at the polo tournament at Old Westbury. For instance, narrow bands of krimmer fur trim her jacket suit, a wide cross fox scarf is thrown across her shoulders and a deep racoon collar finishes off the tweed top-coat, carried by the interesting young matron.

Krimmer is quite as smart this season as it was last winter, perhaps even more so. Numerous sports coats are developed in this durable and chic fur, and it is used as trimming on innumerable ensembles. In either gray or brown it will be popular the coming winter.

Cross fox-bids fair to be as much in vogue as the inevitable, but beautiful, silver fox. Often it offers more of a contrast in color than the silver and black fur. Racoon is always acceptable for sports coats and is safe to choose year in and year out for this purpose.

C. Walther's To Observe Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Walther, 1419 Nevil avenue, set out last night on their golden wedding journey to Willoughby, Ohio, where their 50th anniversary will be celebrated at a family reunion at the home of their daughter, Mrs. A. B. Schultz.

Mr. and Mrs. Walther, who are 74 and 70, respectively, were yesterday excitedly engaged in packing for the trip, which will be considerably different than the previous journey they made across the ocean a half century ago, from Germany.

The golden wedding party will be held at the home of their daughter on Oct. 16, and will be in the nature of a family reunion. Another daughter, Mrs. Martzweiler, of Youngsown, Ohio, will attend the party, in conjunction with a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren, of the old couple. A daughter, Emily, and a son, Herman Jr., reside in Richmond, but will not go east for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Walther were wed in Germany nearly 50 years ago, and came at once to America, returning.

Hair Rats Are Gone! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Modern woman, freed of the restraint of long tresses, realizes the comfort and sanitation of the bobbed head. The shears in the hands of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE have severed the bonds of another archaic dogma.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted" No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

SHAKEDOWN TO BE SCREENED TODAY

Patrons of the Fox-California theater have a treat in store for them. "The Shakedown" an unusual screen play of widely heralded excellence, will be shown here today. It was made by Universal with James Murray and Barbara Kent in the featured roles.

The story, written by the veteran newspaper and screen writer, Charles A. Logue, is built around the crooked fight racket. It discloses how unscrupulous boxing managers stage fake fights with "setups" in order to milk the unsuspecting public with "sure" bets. There is a delightful love story and a succession of human interest touches which give the picture great appeal.

William Wyler, who directed it, has constructed a boy and girl romance in a dramatic setting. This director will be remembered for his "Anybody Here Seen Kelly?" a recent Universal picture of great heart appeal and great human touches. In "The Shakedown" he is said to have bettered his former technique. James Murray plays the part of a young oil well rigger in "The Shakedown." His character under goes a surprising development that adds great interest to the story. Miss Kent is the heroine. Others in the cast include: George Kotsaros, Wheeler Oakman, Harry Gribbon and little Jack Hanlon. In addition to the appealing story and its amusing sequences, the picture contains remarkable scenes of an oil field with derricks, pumps, gushers and all the picturesque details that surround the oil business.

Also on this bill is an all-talking comedy "The Barber's Daughter."

Police Hunt 'Peeping Tom'

Activities of a "Peeping Tom" were yesterday reported to the Richmond police by V. Smith, 1716 Macdonald avenue. Plants in front of the house were trampled down of the windows and peeped in. Although the police searched the neighborhood, no trace of any one was found.

HIGH SCHOOL TO PRESENT 3 PLAYS

The pupils of Richmond Union high school will present three one act plays Friday as their first public entertainment of the term. The plays are "The Managers" by Joseph Lincoln, "The Travelers" by Booth Tarleton, and "The Heart of Frances" by Constance Wilcox.

The scene of "The Managers" will be laid in an old New England cottage, owned by two retired sea captains. Both of the old men wish to be masters of the home, and occasionally an argument arises, which causes a humorous situation.

"The Heart of Frances" is a dither serious fantasy centered around a dream through which Frances, the main character of the play, is able to decide which man she wants to marry. Bag dollars, books, and goblins come to life to help the girl in her decision.

The action of the play takes place in front of a huge silver door with a crimson background. "The Travelers" describes the adventures of a group of travelers in the Castro Grone mountains of Sicily. The events of the play take place in an old inn far back in the bandit infested mountains. Weird shrieks, green faces, and mysterious doors make up a hilarious comedy.

The plays are under the direction of Mrs. Nellie Pherson. Frances Carson, Dorothy Cox, and Virginia Lee Sturanton. The stage settings were planned by the art classes of Richmond high school, under the direction of Blanche Whiting, drawing instructor. Stage Manager Harry Tezeli will have charge of the lighting effects. Those who will assist in the stage management are Dorothy Hall, Alva Nicoletti, Edward Bergen, Clarence Mathews, Robert Peters, Sigrid Merritt, and Jack Hosmer. The costumes are being made by the sewing classes under the direction of Jennie Gardner, and the settings are being constructed by the woodwork class of William Neely.

The Casts

The cast of "The Heart of Frances" includes:

Lindy Finds 4th Ancient Maya Village

am. They spent three days and covered more than 1,200 miles on their aerial survey of the land which was once held by Mayas who vanished some 15 centuries ago.

After sighting previously unknown ruins for the third time, Lindbergh flew over the Santa Cruz Indian territory, passing over a number of small temples and dwelling mounds to the north. Still another temple was found shortly after 2 p. m., the radio messages said.

"Crumbling walls of a majestic Maya temple pyramid estimated at 60 to 70 feet in height was the fourth ancient city found by Col. Lindbergh, within the last two hours," flashed the radio operator. "It is in the center of the old temple and was raised about the surrounding bush. Dr. Klidder of the Carnegie Institute described it as a perfect type of Maya Empire edifice. The mound was sighted b. Lindbergh fully 22 miles away. The ruins are 30 miles north of Santa Cruz and we are turning towards them now."

Mrs. L. Bedbury Called By Death

Mrs. Lucy Ellen Bedbury a pioneer citizen of Richmond died at her home, 772 Fifth street yesterday, following a brief illness. Deceased was 79 years of age and a native of Michigan. She had lived in Richmond 27 years. Deceased leaves a husband, J. H. Bedbury; two daughters, Mrs. Adeline Knight of Richmond and Mrs. Amella Bach of Sacramento and one son, C. A. Mears of Alameda.

Funeral services are pending at the Wilson and Krater chapel.

Wealthy Youth Helps Bandit Rob Own Home

When a young man's love for his own home is so strong that he'll even rob his own house to help out the girl he loves, at least the hero does that in "Masquerade" latest all talking Fox Movietone comedy drama.

Dan Maitland wealthy young New York bachelor, intrigued by a beautiful girl whom he believes is to be a "lady burglar," discovers her ransacking his country home. He gallantly introduces himself as a notorious society bandit and insists on opening the safe for her.

The girl really isn't a burglar and had good reasons for her peculiar conduct. When the real home, and occasionally an argument arises, which causes a humorous situation.

"The Heart of Frances" is a dither serious fantasy centered around a dream through which Frances, the main character of the play, is able to decide which man she wants to marry. Bag dollars, books, and goblins come to life to help the girl in her decision.

City Has Many Means of Communication By Railroads-Highways-Motor Stage-Air & Water Travel

TRANSPORTATION HAS ALWAYS BEEN THE KEYNOTE IN THE PROSPERITY OF COMMUNITIES. Cities have sprung up where railroads have built, and even before the days of railroads, cities developed at points where the main wagon travel was directed.

Today, two new influences have been brought to bear with the relation of transportation to the growth of cities. One is the motor stage and the other is the airplane. The motor bus has already made itself felt and in many instances small towns off the main railroad lines have shown surprising growth.

Speaking of transportation, RICHMOND is ideally located on two transcontinental lines. The Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe. Also we have street car service to Oakland, ferry service to San Francisco, motor transportation to every point on the compass.

Speaking of highways, Contra Costa county is abreast with the times. We have beautiful paved highways in all parts of the county—no one need make excuses for them—they are well-built and well kept.

Contra Costa county officials are awake to all possibilities and are handling the road situation in the county in excellent shape, both from a construction and financial standpoint. State and Federal money is being matched in this progress. The poorest roads in remote sections are now better than the main highways were 15 years ago. And improvements are going on constantly.

In boosting your city don't forget that its transportation facilities are among the real assets of RICHMOND. Our city can match any other city from the standpoint of roads, highways, railroads, and possibly later in the air.

Without sacrifice of time or convenience, residents of RICHMOND have available all the advantages of the larger cities in the matter of transportation. The same advantages of geographical location enjoyed by Oakland and San Francisco are enjoyed by Richmond. Our city is within the same easy access of the playgrounds of California, Yosemite Valley, Lake Tahoe, Sequoia and Grant National Parks, the Calaveras big trees, the Redwood Empire, Mount Diablo, Mount Tamalpais, the famous Monterey Bay—Del Monte and Santa Cruz. To say nothing of Vacation land through the "Valley of the Moon" made possible by the Richmond-San Rafael Ferry and the new Carquinez bridge, the world's greatest highway structure, definitely placing Richmond in contact with California's great agricultural, timber and mining wealth. Yes, RICHMOND is well favored with Transportation.

ATHLETES DEFEAT CUBS IN SECOND WORLD SERIES GAME, FOXX GETS ANOTHER HOMER

WRIGHT FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 9.—UP—It begins to look very much as if the Chicago Cubs are in for one of those devastating defeats such as American league champions have been inflicting upon their National league opponents in world series of the past few years.

The Athletics beat the Cubs again today, this time by the score of 9 to 3, and the rival clubs left for Philadelphia to resume the series at Shibe park with everything indicating the likelihood of the series ending in four games.

It got so bad for a time, out here at the Cubs' own ball park this afternoon, that Chicago fans were booing their own players and cheering for the Athletics.

Foxx Homes

At that, both clubs got what they deserved.

Joe McCarthy sent four pitchers to the hill, and none of them were able to contribute much to wards retelling these pecky Athletics.

A pair of prodigious home runs from the bats of Jimmy Foxx and Al Simmons, with men on bases, helped on the victorious drive of the American league champions.

As far as pitching went, however, Connie Mack was not as successful as on the opening day of the series. Earnshaw, set the Cubs down without a run for the first four innings and then pitched himself right smack into a mess of trouble in the fifth and couldn't pitch himself out.

Feeble Rally

A feeble Chicago rally in this session netted three runs before Connie Mack was not as successful as on the opening day of the series. Earnshaw, set the Cubs down without a run for the first four innings and then pitched himself right smack into a mess of trouble in the fifth and couldn't pitch himself out.

Earnshaw was credited with the victory, however, because the Athletics were well in front when the switch in pitchers occurred.

The Cub pitchers paraded on and off the field without ceremony. They are growing accustomed to the trail from the box to the locker room. It is hard to figure how any one of them is going to prove a winner now.

Pat Malone, upon whose brawny shoulders Chicago fastened its hopes after Charley Root had been beaten on the opening day, was getting along pretty well for the first couple of innings, but went to pieces in the third.

Foxx Scores Two

With two out, Mickey Cochrane singled to right field. Malone, who had been working up to the "three and two" stage on nearly every Philadelphia batter, worked himself in, too deep on Al Simmons, and gave the latter a base on balls.

This brought up Jimmy Foxx, and Jimmy brought down the house with a smashing home-run which soared far into the new and temporary stands out beyond the left field wall. The three Mackmen jogged across the plate, while the Cubs gathered anxiously around Malone and felt his pulse.

It was Jimmy's second homer of the series and like yesterday's blow it broke the ice and started the scoring.

From the moment when the three Mackmen did their gleeful dance on the home plate, the Chicago Cubs were a beaten ball club. They seemed to know it, and certainly the vast crowd of erstwhile loyal rooters sensed it.

PRISTON MEETS ADAMS AT VALLEJO

VALLEJO, Oct. 9.—Johnny Priston, hard hitting ex-soldier welterweight champion, will meet Billy Adams, of New Orleans, in the ten round main event of the weekly boxing show here Thursday night.

This is Priston's first performance in a small town arena. He has been heading show in San Francisco and Los Angeles during the past year. The ex-soldier is planning to take small town bouts in between the big town shots to keep in condition. Included in his list of victories are wins over Pete Meyers, Sergeant Sammy Baker, Joe Vargis and Jack Silver.

Billy Adams made a big impression on the fans here last week when he won over Jimmy Evans in the seventh round when Evans had his left eye cut open. He looked better in this bout than at any time he has ever appeared here, although he has never failed to make a favorable impression.

According to word reaching here the two boys are in good condition and will arrive here the afternoon of the fight to weigh in.

Four rattling good four round preliminaries are billed to complete the program.

Cards Will Meet Bruins On Saturday

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 9.—Stanford will start its second conference game next Saturday, against U. C. L. A. at the Los Angeles Coliseum, with a lineup entirely made up of players registered in the university from southern California. This was the announcement made today by Coach "Pop" Warner, who will send the Cardinals south in charge of "Tiny" Thornhill and Chuck Winterburn. Warner, himself, will go to Seattle where he is to see Southern California and Washington play.

Nor will Thornhill and Winterburn be badly handicapped if they decide to use only southern California boys during the entire game. No less than 27 of the 49 men on the Stanford varsity squad call the southern part of the state their home. Although Warner has announced no definite starting eleven, the following very formidable team can be used:

Other southern California boys on the bench would be: center, Marcellus Albertson, Los Angeles; guard, Harold Mann, Anaheim; guard, Ray Dawson, Santa Ana; Kenneth Reynolds, Pasadena; Albert Forester, Los Angeles; Norman McLeer, Los Angeles; tackle, Charles Ehrhorn, Balboa; James Thompson, Los Angeles; William Burke, Los Angeles; and, Thomas Pike, Los Angeles; quarterback, Jack Murphy, Los Angeles; William Marks, Burbank; Harold Allen, Huntington Park; William Simpkins, Manhattan Beach.

The Cardinal squad will leave for the south Thursday night, arriving at Pasadena Friday morning where the party will stop at the Huntington hotel. Tentative plans call for a visit to the Warner Brothers motion picture studio Friday morning and a very light workout Friday afternoon. Although no definite announcement has been made, it is probable that the entire squad of 49 men will make the southern trip. "Pop" will take no chances with this game as an upset at the hands of the Bruins would, of course, rank as a conference defeat and practically eliminate the Cardinals from the title race.

Oakland, Richmond soccer team received high praise for defeating the Turnverein soccer club. The meeting was attended by G. McCord and E. Davis.

According to McCord, the league requested the Richmond club to join the senior league, but no steps have been taken as yet.

CHURCH CAGE LOOP TO BE ORGANIZED

Plans for a church basketball league were formulated at last night's meeting of the Young Men's Division of the Richmond Y. M. C. A. A meeting of the delegates of the churches wishing to join the league will be held next Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. building.

Junior High Gridders Play Scoreless Game

The Longfellow and Roosevelt junior high school grid teams yesterday played a scoreless tie on the Longfellow field.

Both teams maintained a high standard of football throughout the scrimmage, and kept most of the play in mid-field.

Rivalry is exceedingly high between the two junior high schools as the Longfellow graders are ahead with one victory to their credit, the Rooseveltians were determined to even the score, but the strong Longfellow squad still maintained their lead.

Cubs, Athletics Leave For Pa.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—UP—The Chicago Cubs and the Philadelphia Athletics, participants in the 1929 World Series, left here tonight for Philadelphia, scene of the next three games of the series.

The A's made no secret of their elation over winning the first two games, as they went through the station. However, there was not so much gloom among the Cubs as one might expect. They came to the station smiling.

Mrs. Brent Potter Defeated By Miss Hermine Wacker

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9 (UP).—By reason of her excellent putting Miss Hermine Wacker, of the Crystal Springs Country club, defeated Mrs. Brent Potter, 3 and 2, to reach the semi-finals of the northern California women's golf championship at the Presidio course here today.

Other semi-finalists were Mrs. W. L. Bishop, defeating Mrs. Bernard of Sequoyah; Mrs. J. C. Kilbourne of San Francisco, defeating Mrs. C. A. Webster of Stockton; Mrs. W. L. Archibald, defeating Mrs. Bernard, Sequoyah; Mrs. C. D. Plank, defeating Mrs. H. H. Grady, and Mrs. W. L. Compton, defeating Mr. M. Brown, Jr.

Broncos To Meet Gray Fog Oct. 13

UNIVERSITY OF SANTA CLARA, Oct. 9.—The Santa Clara Broncos will run up against one of the most formidable teams on their schedule when they encounter the St. Ignace Gray Frogs in their annual clash Sunday, Oct. 13, at Kezar stadium.

The Ignatians, who have a clean slate so far, are pointing all their efforts to the coming Bronco test.

Handicapped by injuries, the Gray Frogs won over the Army by a slight margin, but all injuries are rapidly healing and everybody will be back in the game to battle Santa Clara.

Down in the valley, "Clipper" Smith is working on a pass defense that will stop that deadly Kleckner to Borles pass, which has been a destructive point to other teams this year.

"Clipper" has "Hern" Mettle, Chris Machado, Al Teremere and Herb Haskinson working in the backfield, while the line remains as it was.

The Bronco squad realizes that opposition will be strong, especially with men like Sadoochi, Thomas, O'Mara and Kleckner on the other side of the line.

A new pass defense and offense, ends running down trying to stop wily safety men and the old fundamentals of blocking and tackling are the points that Smith and Shaw are working on in preparation for the coming game.

Bronco Frosh To Meet Card Babes Saturday

University of Santa Clara, Oct. 10.—The Santa Clara Frosh will be tested under fire when the young Broncos and the Stanford Yearlings meet at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the Stanford stadium.

This brings together two of the strongest freshmen clubs in the West. The victor, according to dopsters, should rank as Pacific Coast champion.

After a hard game with California it was not expected in last Saturday's game with San Mateo Junior College that the Broncos would come through with a victory, much less, an overwhelming triumph. Their reserve strength and power, however, was enough to give Coach George Barn's boys a win.

"Kip" Morey, Captain of last year's Santa Clara Preps showed up well against San Mateo. Though quite small, he is very fast and tricky and a hard man to lay hands on. Morey will give the Cardinal line plenty of trouble.

Gil Bowd, Jack McGuire, Joseph Nolan and William Hardeman, back field men, have stood out so far this year. These men have been consistent ground-gainers, both in the California and San Mateo games.

The Stanford Frosh reputed to have one of the strongest freshmen line on the coast, will have a job on their hands when they run into men like Ashley, Molinari, Slavich, Smith, Fourrier, Dyer and Palomares, who have smothered everything that came their way and who have been tearing wide gaps in opposing lines.

COUGARS, BEARS WILL BATTLE SATURDAY

BERKELEY, Oct. 9.—The University of California will open its conference season against Washington State college next Saturday afternoon at the Memorial stadium, Berkeley. Fitted against a team of big and experienced men from the north, the Bears face a test fully as difficult as that of last Saturday when they played St. Mary's to a scoreless tie.

Serious doubts as to the strength of the California team were raised by the Saint game, when the visitors took the offensive in the second half and fell one yard short of scoring a touchdown. Since that game, Coach Nips Price has made several temporary shifts in his first string lineup, with probably two objectives in view, to work up the proper fighting spirit in all members of the squad, and to give springing material a chance to show what it can do with proper encouragement.

The Cougars offer more than a mere threat to California's conference hopes. With a team composed of ten lettermen from last year, a line averaging more than 180 pounds in weight, and a triple threat halfback, who caused California considerable trouble last year, the visitors are coming to Berkeley filled with the determination to win this game. Last year Coach Babe Hollingbery used a group of promising sophomores—big, fast men who showed a lot of promise. This year, with a season of varsity experience, these men form a combination that is likely to prove offensive in the several interpretations of the word.

The outstanding man in the Cougar starting lineup is probably Porter Linnhart, left half triple-threat back. Linnhart should prove an excellent adversary for Bennie Lord of California's heavy duty honors in the first conference game. Elmer Schwartz fullback, is a 200-pounder who was an all-Coast guard last year but who has been shifted to fullback, where his power is expected to be fully as effective as in the line. Courtney McRoberts, last year's fullback, has been shifted to quarter this season. McRoberts' 180 pounds adds power and weight to the backfield; and his deceptive left-handed pass is considered a big advantage to the Cougar offense.

Oscar Jones, the fourth man in the backfield, has won a position on the varsity after two years on the reserves. He is consistent, cool, and a slashing player. In the line, Washington State has the veteran Mel Hein at center. Weighing 195 pounds and standing six feet two, Hein is the ideally built pivot man. He is fast and aggressive. The tackle positions are handled by Harold Ahlberg, a veteran and one of Hollingbery's most prized players, and George Hurley, an aggressive sophomore. Ernest Hansen, right guard, is the only two year letterman on the squad. He is touted as the key man of the Cougar wall. Clarence Docka, the other guard, is a newcomer to the varsity. He weighs 182 pounds the lightest man on the line. The wings are handled by George Hill, an 195 pound veteran of last year, and Sam Hansen, another veteran.

Washington State's record this season is impressive. The season was opened with a 45 to 0 victory over Idaho, followed last Saturday by a 38 to 0 win over Mount St. Charles. In the former game, Elvigen, substitute half, proved a sensation. Washington scored two touchdowns by passes and five more on bucks after the way had been paved by the aerial game.

Despite shakeups in the California varsity during practice this week, the tentative starting lineup is made up of the veterans of the past two games. Lom, Rice, Eisan and Garrity in the backfield are hoped to start. As usual, Captain Roy Riegels will be at center, with Tito and Schwartz flanking him at the guard positions. Timmerman and Beckett will be the tackles and the two veterans, Avery and Norton will hold the ends. Riegels gave a wonderful performance against St. Mary's and materially strengthened his claim to all-American center honors this season.

However, understudies are pressing the regulars. Griffith, half, and Cahn, tackle of last year's freshman have been afforded plenty of opportunity to work with the varsity. Either Hickings or Gil may get a chance to work at fullback and Kirwan, a sophomore quarterback, is showing a lot of stuff.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 9 (UP).—Rochester's Red Wings, against the count in the Little World series at three games each by defeating the Kansas City Blues, 4 to 2 today. Five victories are needed for the championship.

Score by innings:
Kansas City 000-002-000 2 7 1
Rochester 200-002-000 4 3 0
Murray, Ridgeway and Peters; Derringer and Florence.

Local Cagers Win Two Games At Practice

Charlie Cecil's basketball team won two practice games played last night at the Longfellow junior high school.

The Santa Fe Indians were downed by a score of 36 to 5, while Don Seawright's quintet lost by a score of 18 to 11.

This was the first time that Cecil's team has ever played and the results were gratifying, for Cecil.

His lineup included Murdoch, Johnson, Milligan, Hall, for wards, Damon and Smelling, centers; Rhodes, Mitchell, Mello and Baker, guards.

MISSIONS DEFEAT STARS IN SECOND GAME OF LITTLE WORLD SERIES AT S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—UP—Southpaw pitching was poison today to the Hollywood Stars, and they dropped the second game of the Pacific Coast league's little world series to the Mission Reds, 8 to 6.

"Lefty" Cole was on the mound for the Missions, and kept the hits so bunched that except for a homer in the seventh which brought in two runs to tie the score he was never in peril. The Reds came back with a homer and another run in the eighth, and Cole retired the Stars, one, two, three in the ninth to end the game.

The Missions took a firm edge on the odds by their second straight win over Hollywood, and opinion was that the playoff series would be completed in the south, where the teams move after tomorrow's game.

Timely Hitting

Cole was aided in the victory by timely help from his teammates, the whole Mission team showing strong recuperative power to come back after the Stars tied the score twice.

The willow widders of the Reds were in the fifth inning, when two Stars' runs tied the score. The willow widders of the Reds came to the rescue in the last half of the season, putting out three runs. Again the Stars tied the score in the eighth only to see their hopes of victory fade before the Mission rally for the two winning runs.

Hollywood started the scoring in the first frame, Rollins planting a two-bagger to right field. Funk followed with a single to left, which Rollins forced to a run.

Hollerson, right hander, started the game for the Stars, but had an off day, and he was pulled in the eighth by Wetzel.

Sherlock Doubled

The Reds followed the Stars in first inning scoring, Mulligan singled to center. He went to second on Funk's infield out and scored on Huff's single to center. Sherlock drilled a double to the same spot, and Huff tallied. Slade's error introduced Hollywood's two runs in the fifth.

Green doubled to the right field fence. Maloney grounded to Cole who caught Green off second, but Slade dropped the ball. Hollerson sacrificed and Lee walked. Rollins singled to right, bringing in Green and Maloney.

The Red's comeback in the same inning was featured by four solid hits. Boone and Huff singled. Sherlock socked his second and double scoring Boone, Scott singled, scoring Huff and Sherlock. Three singles enabled Hollywood to put across another marker in the seventh. Green was on first in the eighth when Maloney surprised himself and everyone else by hitting a homer that brought in Green and knotted the score for Hollywood again.

Pilette May Choke

Hollerson was finished in the last half when Scott homed and Slade doubled. Baldwin sacrificed and Cole singled off Wetzel, tallying Slade.

It looks like Pilette will be called to the mound for the Missions tomorrow when Oscar V. will depend on Shellenbach, leading pitcher of the league, and always a m'vance to the Reds, to turn back the Mission.

ED. HURLEY LOSES FINGER

Ed Hurley, 19, 4019 Roosevelt avenue, son of A. J. Hurley, Richmond city building inspector, is minus a portion of his left middle finger and has a badly crushed ring finger on the left hand as a result of a freak accident yesterday.

Hurley who is an employee of the Standard Oil company was driving down Eighth street with a companion shortly after noon yesterday when their roadster ran out of gas. The youths pushed the car ahead toward a garage and when the machine started rolling, the companion stepped into the car to handle the steering wheel while Hurley jumped on the left running board. Hurley's left hand was resting on the edge of the rumble seat which was open.

A car dashed in front of the machine occupied by the two youths and the one at the wheel slammed on the brakes. The sudden stopping of the car brought the rumble seat down with a bang, Hurley's left hand was caught between the seat and the side of the car.

Dr. L. A. Hedges who treated the youth was forced to amputate a portion of the first joint of the middle finger on the left hand.

City League Hears Governor

Gov. C. C. Young yesterday addressed the session of the League of California Municipalities, now in convention at Oakland. Several Richmond city officials are attending the meeting.

Election of officers is scheduled to be held by the convention today. Riverside has been tentatively selected as the site for the next convocation.

Plans for a "war" on highway bill boards are expected to be outlined at the session today.

Dry Leader Seriously Ill

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 9.—UP—Virtually no progress was made today by Dr. E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana anti-saloon league, who is in a grave condition here with a complication of diseases.

Dr. Charles R. Snowden, physician attending Dr. Shumaker said tonight the dry leader was "just fair" and that his condition showed no improvement.

U. P. E. C. To Be Feted At San Pablo

Intensive preparations are being made to entertain the state convention of U. P. E. C. next Wednesday by the San Pablo organization, headed by Frank Rosa.

Although but one day has been allotted to San Pablo, the convocation will continue throughout the week in Oakland.

The plans call for the delegates to leave Oakland at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning to participate in a parade starting near Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue about 1:30. A stop will be made at the Richmond high school while the band plays selections. The parade then proceeds to the M. G. Moltoza building in San Pablo, where additional musical numbers will be rendered.

An old fashioned barbecue will be ready at the Maple hall when the parade disbands. The barbecue is being prepared under the direction of Frank Rosa. Dancing will continue through the afternoon, the charmarita upstairs and the American style on the lower floor. At six o'clock the delegates will return to Oakland for conference sessions.

Frank Rosa, who heads the committee, has been secretary of the San Pablo U. P. E. C. council since 1913, and also has been district deputy for the past 12 years. He will be assisted on the committee by the following San Pabloans: H. C. Solto, John Regal, E. W. Woodfield, M. G. Moltoza, Antonio Nunes, E. H. Rose, Joseph Cazrai, Antonio Rosa, Antonio Alameda, Frank Serpa, Thomas Silva, J. C. Cabral, Frank D. Serpa, William Lewis and George Ferreira.

to contact with the millionaire in the present case. He said he communicated with Pantages, telling him that a girl he believed was Eunice Pringle had spent the night with him and another man and girl at a resort. He revealed that Pantages had visited him in San Diego, where he resides.

"I said 'Skids' Pringle," Sheridan explained on the stand. "But I found out that she was not Eunice Pringle. I saw Eunice Pringle for the first time yesterday in the district attorney's office. She was not the 'Skids' Pringle who was with us."

Well Taken Care Of
In the matter of financial payment, Sheridan said he was to have been "well taken care of." For the first time in the trial, Pantages sprang to his feet and stood by his attorneys throughout Sheridan's stay on the stand. On cross examination, Attorney Jerry Geisler followed a line of questioning to show that Sheridan never had rehearsed any story with defense attorneys and that they had told him last week they could not use his testimony.

"Well, yes they did say they didn't think they could use me," Sheridan admitted.

Payment Asked
"And after that did you not call a son of this defendant, Rodney Pantages, who is sitting here, and tell him that you had to have $300 or you would go to the district attorney?" Geisler asked.

"No, I just said I wanted what I had coming to me," the actor said.

"Didn't he tell you to go to the district attorney or to H—L and hang up the telephone?" "No, he didn't," Sheridan said stubbornly.

He revealed that he had gone to District Attorney Pitts the day after the conversation with young Pantages because he knew that he would get in trouble if he didn't, having heard that detectives were investigating him.

Expense Money
Sheridan said he had paid out $231 of his own money to persons in Agua Caliente, Mex., who were witnesses to the "Skids" Pringle incident, but denied that they were the man and two women who had accompanied him here as witnesses. He declared Pantages had given $123 in expense money to date and admitted that before seeing Eunice Pringle, pictures had caused him to tell defense attorneys she was "Skids" Pringle.

Sheridan was excused subject to recall by the prosecution for further questioning.

Movie Extra On Stand
He was followed on the stand by W. C. Hale, a movie extra, who testified that he was sitting in the balcony of the Pantages theater, watching a motion picture when he heard "a lot of screams" and rushed out an exit to the stairway, where Miss Pringle fell into his arms, lay there for a minute and then went to the street.

"I went up the stairs to the mezzanine floor and, after looking cautiously around a corner to make sure there were no bullets flying, I went over to the little room. I saw Mr. Pantages in there in a disheveled condition. Then I followed him up to his main office and the second floor."

He repeated how Miss Pringle had returned and pointed to the theater man, calling him a beast and begging those standing near to not let him get away. On cross examination the defense showed and the state admitted that Hale was wanted in Texas on ten felony counts.

services were required by this city and that such a man would probably be able to render services as efficient as any that could be given by a local man who would be sent specially for the purpose.

The official reported on many activities which engaged his attention while in the nation's capital. Among the matters in which he represented the city were the transfer of KFWM, location of an army air base here, the proposed new government hospital, and the railroad rate case before the Interstate Commerce commission.

In the case of the latter hearing, he said he believes Richmond's message made an impression on the members of the commission, and he is confident that Richmond will be placed on a basis of equality with other cities around the bay as regards rates to the northwest.

Ralph Beigen, director of the chamber, will represent Richmond at the forthcoming meeting of the Sacramento Regional council, where plans will be made for a Pan-American trade exposition, to be held in Sacramento next fall in conjunction with the State Fair in that city.

Fred D. Parr announced that construction has already commenced on the towers and buildings of the radio station KFWM at East Shore park and that the plant will be broadcasting as Richmond's official station about November 1.

A $1.25 to Bid Your Home of Moths May Save You Hundreds of Dollars.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.

Martinez Man Escapes Death In Car Crash

MARTINEZ, Oct. 9.—James LeRoux of Martinez narrowly escaped death early this morning when the car which he was driving through Franklin canyon crashed through the bridge rail and Muir Garden turned turtle in the creek bridge, and caught fire.

LeRoux managed to crawl from beneath the overturned car just as the gasoline tank caught fire. He was slightly cut and bruised. The fire spread from the car to the bridge. The Martinez fire department, responding to the alarm, saved the structure.

DeMolay To Lay Plans For Dance

Members of the Richmond chapter of DeMolay will convene tonight at a stated business meeting in the Point Masonic hall.

The advisory board, composed of Royal Arch Masons, will attend the session, which will be under the direction of A. Weston Judkins.

An entertainment will be presented and refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the business meeting.

Final plans are being arranged by the chapter for a dance to be held Oct. 26 in conjunction with members of the Richmond Bethel of Jobs Daughters. The event will be held at the Richmond clubhouse. It will be invitational.

J. A Vincent Heads R. U. H. S. School Debaters

The Debating club of the Richmond Union high school elected its officers for the fall term at a meeting held last night. J. A. Vincent was elected president of the club. Schuyler Albert was chosen as vice-president and Betty Jackson is secretary-treasurer of the organization.

The club discussed plans for a party to be held soon. There are about 15 members of the club, which is under the direction of Carroll Frederick of the school faculty. The purpose of the club is to create efficiency in public speaking and debating. The first debate of the club was "Resolved—Capital Punishment Should Be Abolished."

Pass Key Thief Hunted Here

Richmond police are searching for a burglar, who conducting his operations with the aid of a pass key, entered and robbed three apartments at 1024 Barrett avenue Tuesday afternoon.

In the apartment of Margaret Jenkins, a watch and other valuables including money, were taken to the value of $60. In the same building, John Bradley's quarters were robbed of $32.00, while another apartment, that of Miss Della Fisher, yielded nothing to the prowlers, although evidence was found that the place had been searched.

Mrs. B. E. Stokes Final Rites Held

The Christian Science service was read yesterday afternoon at the funeral of Mrs. Birdie Evelyn Stokes, by Mrs. Pearl Krumdick at the Richmond chapel of Wilson and Kratzer. Burial followed at Sunset View cemetery.

Mrs. Stokes, whose home was in Twain, Plumas county, passed away Monday at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. E. Turner of Richmond.
